Take a course using your own smartphone

Do you also find it difficult to look up information online or use your smartphone? Then join the DigiKlik courses offered by VluchtelingenWerk Nederland (VWN). You will learn to get better at using your smartphone, laptop and on the internet.

During the course, you will learn about using your own smartphone. This allows you to continue practising at home after the course. You can take the course in Arabic, Farsi, Turkish and Tigrinya.

Choose the course that suits you

The courses are for anyone who needs to undergo civic integration or who has already finished their civic integration. It does not matter what civic integration you are doing or have done. There are 3 courses consisting of three meetings. You can choose which of the 3 courses suits you best.

These are the three courses you can choose from:

1. Do you want to learn how to use your smartphone better? Then you can take course 1. Here you will learn how to use your smartphone.
2. Do you want to learn to use online tools? Then you can take course 2 where you will learn to look up information on the internet and use tools.
3. Do you want to learn to arrange things with the government online? Then you can take course 3. For example, you will learn how to make an appointment at the hospital online or where to file your tax return online.

With these courses you learn to participate online in the Netherlands. That is why your hours count towards your civic integration if you follow the Z-route. You will also receive a diploma from DigiKlik which counts towards your civic integration plan (PIP).
